

Buenos Aires Province Duck Hunt

About Buenos Aires

Monte Laguna and San Juan are located west of the city of Buenos Aires surrounded by millions of acres of farmland, spotted with ponds and small shallow lakes, which provide ideal waterfowl habitat. Trek Safaris is proud to work with brother's Cano and Cane St. Antonin, who have over 30 years experience guiding hunters and fisherman on a trip of a lifetime.

The Outfitter

Trek Safaris and the St. Antonin Brothers have been working together for 15 years and from the mountains and streams of Patagonia to the fields of the Buenos Aires Province, Four Seasons Outfitters has an option for the outdoor enthusiast. Both Monte Laguna and San Juan have an established following in the waterfowl community and you owe it to yourself to pay them a visit.

The Hunting

With over 11 different species in the area, the number of ducks dropping into your decoys each morning is staggering. Each location and blind is constructed to suit the environment, whether it is set in the water or on land your guide will have the blind set, decoys out and your gun ready for each hunt. The morning hunts will begin before daylight and the ducks will fly until mid morning, where the afternoon hunt lasts from about four o'clock until sundown.

The Accommodations

Monte Laguna is a traditional Estancia with six bedrooms, large living area and dining room to accommodate ten hunters. San Juan is a three story Estancia with five bedrooms and was originally constructed pre-1900. The large bedrooms, towering ceilings and wood floors have been restored and offer a unique lodge setting surrounded by the best duck hunting in the province. Each lodge offers the modern amenities that the traveling wingshooter of today has come to expect as well as the famous Argentine beef and a wonderful selection of wine from the cellar.

Getting There

The best way to reach either San Juan or Monte Laguna is a flight from the USA to Buenos Aires. Multiple carriers offer this overnight flight from a number of US cities daily. From Buenos Aires you will be met by a Trek representative and transferred to the lodge.
